A Good Motto to Remember

(Farmers cut this out)

Careful Straining and proper Cooling of Milk in water at this time of year is very essential to guard against loss. Both Dairyman and Manufacturers take big chances of loss if the Milk is not cooled just as carefully during winter months as in the summer. Do not trust to weather conditions. The Milk will not cool in the centre of the can fast enough to prevent high acidity unless proper stirring is applied.

Will Build New Opera House

Local picture and theatre goers as well as the common or garden variety of Didsbury citizen will be pleased to learn that they are going to be supplied with a decent place to go to for a little relaxation from the cares of this strenuous life. A great deal of uneasiness and dissatisfaction has been felt for some years with the Opera House in Didsbury because of the dangerous and uncomfortable conditions which exist and the wonder has been that the Management has been able to hold his patrons at all because of the said conditions. However, if all goes well things are due for a big change in this respect and Didsbury will have a house worth while.

The two business lots north of Williams' & Little's store have been purchased by Mr. Dan Klinck, one of our well known wealthy farmers who lives west of town, and his intentions are to build a block containing an Opera House about 30 x 100 feet with seating accommodation for about 500 people and all accessories for a small house. There will also be offices in the block.

This is an outline of what is intended and his plans are now being drawn and work on the new building will commence as soon as winter lets up.

The progressiveness of this new venture will be much appreciated by the Didsbury public and no doubt when the building is finished the said public will show their appreciation by their generous support so that the owner will not lose out on his investment.

Hail Insurance Bylaws Defeated

The government Hail Insurance Bylaws put before the ratepayers of Mountain View and Westerdale Municipalities for a vote received a knock-out, both the old Bylaw and the new being defeated by substantial majorities. In Mountain View Municipality the Bylaw for the new plan was defeated 33 for, and 117 against and the old hail insurance was also defeated. Westerdale turned down the new hail insurance by a vote of 27 for to 46 against.

Old Councillors Re-Elected

The municipal year for rural municipalities has now been changed. The new municipal year starts in March and the elections for Councillors takes place the latter part of February. The elections in the Mountain View Municipality for three Councillors took place on Friday last and resulted in the return of the three retiring Councillors, Messrs. T. A. Leach, A. D. Platt and W. A. Flynn.

Meeting of Managers

A meeting of the Managers of Williams' & Little's northern stores was held at the local store on Thursday night last, J. DeLong, of Innitfail, Dan Munro, of Bowden, H. Hawks, of Olds, M. Young, of Carstairs and W. O. Zimmerman, the local manager with Mr. Williams and Mr. Little were present. Several matters relating to the policy of this progressive firm were discussed one of which was "Credit vs. Cash." It was decided that the best policy was the strictly cash system. The fact that the system of giving credits is unfair to the cash customer as well as causing an added expense because of bad debts, book keeping expenses, interest on book debts, etc., which have to be added to the cost of the goods. Under the straight cash system the goods will be sold on an absolute cash price which means that the buyer saves paying for the other fellow's debts and gets the goods at wholesale cost plus overhead expenses such as clerk hire, etc. A short social time was spent after the business was concluded.

Cannot Ship Horses

For some months past an effort has been made to find a market for the unsaleable light horses and misfits now eating fodder which should be conserved for the use of animals of better quality. The Secretary of the Alberta Horse breeders Association at Calgary had received offers of over ten thousand horses of the class above mentioned at five cents a pound. Those interested in this undertaking succeeded in having the subject dealt with by the Inter-Allied Food Council in London. Unfortunately, the number of army horses which will be slaughtered as unfit for other use will produce a surplus of horse flesh, which for the present prevents arrangements being made for the sale of horses for this purpose from Canada. The situation, however, will be carefully watched with a view of the possibility of a permanent export market for this commodity being developed in the future. The large number of horses offered from all parts of Alberta for this purpose indicates the widespread interest in the matter, and the splendid service that will be done to the horse industry if this class of horse can be eliminated from the range and from the farms without being a total loss to their owners.

WE DON'T WANT THE BACON. WE WANT A SLICE OF THE RHINE.—This is only a song and one would think it shows a very selfish spirit, but when you stop to consider nothing is too good for Canada. Our army is the best in the world because every man must be fit. The first essential is perfect vision. How about your eyes? If you have sleepy, or that uncomfortable feeling after reading, it's an indication of a hyperopic condition that should be corrected. ## EDITORIAL

A Note of Confidence

In these days of unrest, of speculation as to the future, of foreboding even as to what the future holds for Canada in the face of a period of economic and social upheaval and reconstruction which will likely be marked by much unemployment and in which an enormous increase in taxation must be laid on the shoulders of the people, it is gratifying to find a note of confidence and reassurance sounded. And such a note has been sounded in the most unexpected quarter, sounded not in words, perhaps, but in a more convincing manner—by action.

It is notorious that capital is timid, that financiers are fearful, that bankers and banking institutions are ultra-conservative, yet it is the chartered banks of Canada which at this time of uncertainty have sounded a note of confidence and are taking the lead in a forward movement for the future. It is so surprising and unexpected coming from such a quarter as to cause amazement and lead one to search for the reason of it.

The attitude of the banks of Canada today is in sharp contrast to their attitude five or six years ago. Then they were enforcing a drastic curtailment of credits, and in the summer and winter of 1913 put restrictions on all commercial borrowings. The land boom in the west had collapsed; the great era of transcontinental railway construction and general building activity and large municipal undertakings was over; the banks were "carrying" many of the great industrial and commercial houses of Canada; the money markets of Great Britain were practically closed to further Canadian borrowings; New York financiers and financial journals were openly hinting at disaster and bankruptcy in the Dominion; our export trade was not keeping pace with our increasing volume of imports. The banks shut down on all schemes of further expansion.

Then came the war. Nevertheless the Canadian banks stood the strain well, and were able not only to finance the business of the country and the requirements of the government, but advanced huge credits of hundreds of millions of dollars to Britain. Much criticism of the banks is heard—no doubt partly justified—but it must be said to their credit that they proved a tower of strength to Canada and the Empire throughout the war.

The war is all but over. The time of reconstruction, readjustment, is upon us with all its possibilities of trade recession, unemployment, and general commercial uncertainty. Yet it is at this time that the chartered banks of Canada are arranging to increase their capital, increasing dividends, opening new branches throughout the country, and, most significant of all, opening branches in France, Russia and the countries of South America. If existing capital was sufficient to enable the banks to "carry on" during the strain of the war and a period of tremendous industrial activity, why do they now require more capital if trade is to be restricted? Does not their present policies of expansion indicate that, from all the sources of information at their command, the head officials of the banks are rather convinced that a new and greater era of business development is opening for Canada? It would certainly seem so.

It is beyond all question that during the war Canada increased her productive capacity enormously, in agriculture, in manufactures, and in other directions. Manufacturers gained valuable knowledge in the technique of production and vastly improved their methods. Even with a considerable falling off from the high water mark of war exports during the past year or two, their exports would still far exceed those of pre-war days.

As a result of the war, and the splendid part played in the grim struggle by this Dominion, Canada has gained for herself a new place in the eyes of the world. This country is "on the map," so to speak, as never before, and nations which all but ignored Canada in the past are almost certain to look our way and trade with our people to an ever increasing extent as the years pass and conditions become more normal. At least the banks seem to think so and are preparing for it.

Possibly the greatest criticism of our banks in the past has been that they did not appreciate the full importance of assisting agriculture nor recognize the necessity of adopting a more sympathetic and liberal policy in extending credit on reasonable terms to farmers. If, in the forward movement upon which they are embarking and in their new policies of expansion, the banks make adequate provision for the rapid development of agriculture they will do much to remove existing grievances and go far towards silencing criticism. At the same time they will be materially assisting in laying a solid foundation for the future prosperity of Canada, and a foundation upon which a strong industrial and commercial structure can be safely erected.

Grouard Important Centre

Stockmen Most Enthusiastic Over Possibilities of the District

Calgary, Alta. — Grouard, on Lesser Slave lake, is fast becoming one of the most important centres of the great northland. Stockmen and ranchers from the southern part of the province who have been there securing feed to relieve the shortage in that part of the country are most enthusiastic over the possibilities of the district and are having their stock shipped north to remain there permanently. Twenty cars have already been received, and as many more are expected to arrive shortly. Plenty of feed and water are an absolute necessity to stock raising, and the district has both. Ten thousand tons of hay are being shipped out of Grouard this winter. This crop is never failing.

British Columbia's Exports

British Columbia's exports to the United States for the year ending Dec. 31, 1918, were $54,493,156, an increase of $3,809,990. Ore, lumber and paper, and animal products were the big items.

A SPLENDID MEDICINE FOR THE CHILDREN

Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine a mother can give her little ones. They are a mild laxative which quickly regulate the bowels and stomach and are guaranteed to be entirely free from any injurious drugs. Concerning them Mrs. A. D. West, Loreburn, Sask., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets have given me more satisfaction than anything else I have ever given my children. They are easily taken; always work well and though I have given quite a few to my baby they seem to work as well now as at first, which is something other laxatives seldom do." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Immigration Into Provinces

Saskatchewan Ranks Second and Manitoba Third

Edmonton, Alta. — According to official figures specially furnished the U. S. consulate at Edmonton the total number of Americans that have taken up residence in the province of Alberta since 1905, including five months of the fiscal year 1918-19, reaches 275,093. In 1905 the province of Alberta was organized, and statistical information has been kept since that date of the immigration into the three provinces — Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Saskatchewan ranks second with 226,330 immigrants, and Manitoba third, with only 78,788. The largest immigration into Alberta from the United States came in 1909-10, and numbered 34,663; the smallest in 1918-19, numbered 5,613.

Laugh When People Step On Your Feet

Try this yourself then pass it along to others. It works!

Ouch! ? ! ? ! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town, if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn stops soreness at once, and soon the corn dries up and lifts right out without pain.

He says freezone is an ether compound which dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding tissue or skin. A quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels.

Satisfactory Increase In Oil Output

During 1917 Alberta Wells Produced 312,000 Gallons of Gasoline

Three oil refineries were operating in the Calgary field last year, and complete figures which are now available, show a very satisfactory increase in the quantity of gasoline and kerosene sold last year over the amount sold in previous years, the total for the twelve months ending December, being 331,093 gallons of gasoline and 107,320 gallons of kerosene, valued at $150,000 and $160,000 respectively. A few days before these figures were published the Calgary Herald commenting on the importance of the local oil producing areas said editorially:

"During 1917 Alberta wells produced 312,000 gallons of gasoline and kerosene as well as 8,500 barrels of crude petroleum. Last year the production was greater and there were other oil producing fields exploited and proven. The exploration work is continuing with every prospect that ultimately Alberta will be developed into one of the great oil producing areas of the North American continent."

Foreign Population

Great Mixture of Races Have to Be Dealt With

Regina, Sask. — Amid the environment of western Canada, old customs still cling, as was brought out in an address by Rev. G. Muir, concerning conditions in the foreign quarter of the city, which in the east end is inhabited by as cosmopolitan a population as could be found anywhere. In his remarks he stated that in his professional capacity he was called on to perform a marriage ceremony between a girl about 15 years of age and a man whom he later discovered had overbid his rival in making a bargain with the girl's father by $25. He cited the school population of the Wetmore public school in the east end as illustrating the great mixture of races which had to be dealt with, giving the following figures: English, 83; Irish, 1; German, 126; Jews, 64; Russians, 53; Americans, 60; Belgians, 4; Polish, 1; Scotch, 12; Canadian, 224; Roumanians, 124; Serbians, 57; Austrians, 47; Hungarians, 10; Swedes, 2. Total, 868.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Two opposing views of the status of a farmer's wife come out of the middle west. A vague statement in some "woman's column" by a sentimental writer "that it is a fond dream of mine to become a farmer's wife and meander down life's pathway," drew this comment from a country editor: "Oh, yes, that is a nice thing, but when your husband meanders off and leaves you without wood and you have to meander up and down the lane pulling splinters off the fence to cook the dinner; and you meander around in the wet clover in search of the cows until your shoes are the color of the setting sun, and each stocking absorbs a pint of water, and when you meander out across twenty acres of plowed ground to drive the cows out of the buck-wheat and tear your dress on a wire fence, and you meander back to the house and find that the goat has butted your child until it resembles a pumpkin, and find the old hen and sixteen chickens in the parlor, the cat in the cupboard and the dog in the milk, you will realize, dear girl, that this meander business is not what it's cracked up to be." The other view—the optimistic one—can be set forth as follows: A cheering person can picture farm life so idyllic that the farmer, on rising in the morning, does not disturb his wife, but says good morning into the boudoir phonograph. He may add a hint as to what he would like to have for breakfast when he returns from his automobile ride about the farm. At eight o'clock the maid calls the farmer's wife, and by half past nine she has a telephone call from her husband, over on the north-west quarter, saying that he will join her in five minutes. At breakfast the morning papers are read, having come by rural delivery a few minutes before, and the wife announces the program for the day. It may be French, music, physical culture or clubs. A package of the latest novels, a ride across the country on a blooded mare, skating in the winter, golf in summer, a lecture on art in the local hall—all these things are set forth as possibilities for the plutocratic farmer's wife in this state. And in the evening the pianola puts Bethoven or Handel at the lady's finger tips. The children are put to bed, the governess dismissed and a telephone conference with the neighbors over the days gossip is begun. The farmer reads his favorite poet, and the night glides on.

will gladly explain all the benefits of this Policy at the Rosebud Hotel this week of Didsbury on South trail. He is giving up farming completely and moving to Didsbury, for this reason he has instructed A. R. Kendrick to dispose of all the cattle, horses, implements and a quantity of household effects, on Tuesday March 11th. "Don't forget the date" This equipment corresponds with the farm it is kept on, and is in good condition and running order.

Among the 20 horses offered there are several well matched and well broken teams in good flesh and in the draft size.

In the face of a rising horse market, any of these horses would prove a good sound investment to any dealer or prosperous farmer.

Mr. Lantz is allowing a good lengthy time on all credit amounts and a good discount to those who prefer to pay cash.

In the sale columns of this paper look and read the complete listing of the sale.

When the day arrives make it a point to be there, your time will be profitably spent and you will enjoy yourselves.

Old Folks' Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Quickly Cured

This Tells of a Method That Cures Without Using Drugs

Elderly people take cold easily. Unlike young folks, they recover slowly. That is why so many people past middle life die of pneumonia.

Cough Syrup seldom does much good because they upset digestion. Any doctor knows that a much more effective treatment is "CATARRHO-ZONE," which heals and soothes the irritated surfaces of the throat.

In using Catarrhzone you do not take medicine into the stomach—you simply breathe into the throat, nose and lungs rich piney balsamic vapor, so full of healing power that colds, catarrh and bronchitis disappear almost instantly.

The germ-killing balsamic vapor mixes with the breath, descends through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, and finally reaches the deepest air cells in the lungs. All parts are soothed with rich, pure medicinal essences, whereas with a syrup the affected parts could not be reached and harm would result through benumbing the stomach with drugs.

A Catarrhzone inhaler in your pocket or purse enables you to stop a cold with the first sneeze. Large size costs $1.00 and supplies treatment for two months, small size, 50c; trial size, 25c; all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhzone Co., Kingston, Canada.

After breakfast next morning, Mrs. Stephen showed Foster some photographs of the mountains, in one or two of which Lucy and Lawrence had a place and he asked: "Have you a portrait of Walters?"

"No; the man who took these was staying here, and one day asked Walters to join the group he was posing, but he refused."

"How did he get out of it?" Lawrence, who had come in with Lucy, laughed. "Rather neatly. Said he was a modest sentimentalist and would sooner leave his memory printed on our hearts!"

"One must admit that he did something of the kind," Lucy remarked.

"Then will you or Mrs. Stephen describe his looks," Foster asked.

"The girl did so and then inquired: 'Why didn't you ask Lawrence?'" "Well," said Foster, "if you want an accurate description of a man, it's better to ask a woman. Our classifications are rather vague; we say he's all right, a good sport, or perhaps an outsider. You note all his idiosyncrasies, the way he talks, the color of his hair—"

"I suppose we do," Mrs. Stephen agreed with a smile. "You are rather shrewd, Mr. Foster."

"I don't see why that should surprise my friends, but it sometimes does," Foster rejoined and went to the flag station to ask about the train.

It stopped for him an later and he set off again on his search for Daly which was complicated by the need for being on his guard against a man he did not know. It looked as if Walters had told Daly that Lawrence was in British Columbia, and he had come out to join his accomplice; but, after all, if Foster did not know Walters, the man did not know him. Another thought gave him some consolation: Walters had plotted against Lawrence because his evidence might be dangerous, but probably knew nothing about Daly's blackmailing plan. The latter would, no doubt, consider any money he could extort was his private perquisite, and might try to protect his victim.

As the train sped through the mountains Foster felt very much at a loss. Indeed, unless luck favored him, he thought he might as well give up the search, and after a time got off at a mining town. He had no particular reason for doing so, but felt that to go on to Vancouver would be to leave the place where his last clue broke off too far away.

The town, for the most part, was built of wood, and some of the smaller and older houses of logs, with ugly square fronts that hid the roof. A high, plank sidewalk ran down the main street, so that foot passengers might avoid the mud, but the ruts and holes were now hidden by beaten snow. At one end stood a big smelter, which filled the place with acrid fumes, and the scream of saws rose from sheds beside the river, where rusty iron smoke stacks towered above sawdust dumps. The green torrent was partly covered by cakes of grinding ice. All round, in marked contrast to the utilitarian ugliness below, dark pines ran up to the glittering snowfields on the shoulders of the peaks.

Foster went to a big new hotel, which he found dirty and too hot. Its bare walls were cracked and exuded resin; black drops from the central heater pipes stained the rotunda floor, which was torn by the spikes on the river Jack's boots. An electric elevator made a horrible noise. The supper he got in the big dining room, where an electric organ played, was, however, very good, and he afterwards sat rather drowsily in the rotunda, watching the men who came in and out through the revolving door.

There is not much domestic life in the new Western towns, whose inhabitants, for the most part, live at hotels, and the rotundas of the latter are used as a lounge by anybody who prefers them to the street. In consequence, Foster could not tell who were guests and who were not. By and by he filled his pipe, and a man who was lighting his held out the match, which Foster took with a word of thanks. It might have been a trifling politeness, but he thought the other had waited until he was ready.

"You're a stranger," the man remarked.

"Yes," said Foster, "I've just come in."

"Looking for business?"

Foster quietly studied the man. He was neatly dressed and looked keen and alert. It was possible that he was a storekeeper, or a real estate agent, which is a common occupation in a western town.

"Well," he said, "I don't often let a chance of a trade go past, but when you're in a strange place, the trouble is to tell if you've got a snap or not."

"Sure thing," agreed the other.

"Dressed lumber."

"Then I can't do much for you, but there's quite a lot of new construction planned and the boys will get busy as soon as the frost breaks," said the man.

He went on to talk about the trade of the town and province, and on the whole Foster was glad he had been in British Columbia before and knew something about the country. It was better to be cautious and he did not want to show he came from the east.

By and by another man crossed the floor and picked up a newspaper that lay near. As he did so, he gave Foster a careless glance, and then went back to the seat he had left. This was at some distance from the heaters and near the entrance, to which people kept passing, but it commanded the spot that Foster and his companion occupied. Foster, however, could not detect him watching them, and soon afterwards the other man went out.

Nothing happened next day, but Foster stopped and in the evening called for Pete, whom he had sent to a different hotel, and strolled down the snowy street. It was very cold and few people were about. A half-moon hung above the summit of the range, and the climbing points cut a ragged black masses against the snow. After crossing a bridge on the outskirts of the town they stopped and looked about.

A few half-finished houses stood among blackened stumps in a cleared belt, where there were rubbish heaps and willows were springing up, but a little farther on the forest rose in a shadowy wall. It was quiet except for the roar of the river, and Foster shivered as he filled his pipe.

"It's a nipping wind. I'd better go down the bank a bit before I try to get a light," he said.

He pushed through the willows growing beside the creek, but dropped his match box, and Pete came to help him in this search. They found it, but before he could strike a match a man stopped at the end of the bridge and looked back up the street. Foster, who thought he was the fellow who had spoken to him at the hotel, touched Pete, and they stood very still.

The man might have seen them had he glanced their way, although the branches broke the outline of their figures, but he was looking back, as if he expected somebody to come up behind, and after a few moments went on again. He crossed the clearing towards a fence that seemed to indicate a road following the edge of the forest, and vanished into the gloom of the trees. Then as Foster lit his pipe, another man came quickly across the bridge and took the same direction as the first.

"I wonder if you was what you might call a coincidence," Pete said softly.

"So do I, but don't see how it concerns us," Foster replied. "I think we'll take the road straight in front."

They followed a track that led through the bush at a right angle to the other. The snow was beaten firm as if by the passage of logs or sleds, and there were broad gaps among the trees, which rose in ragged spires, sprinkled with clinging snow. In places, the track glittered in the moonlight, but, for the most part, one side was marked by a belt of grey shadow. After a time, they heard a branch spring back, then there was a crackle of undergrowth, and a man came out of an opening ahead. It was the man who had first passed them; Foster knew him by his rather short fur coat. For no obvious reason and half-instinctively, he drew back into the gloom. The man, who did not see them, went on up the track.

"You're a well-kent trick in my trade," Pete remarked. "When it's no convenient to be followed, ye send an inquisitive pairson off on another road. But I would like to see if he has got rid of the other man."

body else appeared, and Foster surmised that the first man knew the track.

They waited some minutes, but no ground and the other did not. The fellow had vanished among the trees, but after a time they saw him again, crossing a belt of moonlight some distance in front, and Foster felt he must find out where he was going.

By and by the indistinct figure vanished again, and pushing on cautiously through the snow, they came to a clearing at the foot of the range.

Steep rocks rose above the narrow open space, but although the trail went farther there was nobody about. Standing behind a fir trunk, Foster searched the edge of the bush, but saw nothing except a ruined shack and some ironwork sticking out of the snow. He could not examine the shack, because if the other man was near he would see him when he left the trees. After waiting a few minutes, he touched Pete and they turned back silently.

The Real Estate Agent

Next morning Foster got up in the dark and walked briskly down the main street to the bridge. Lights were beginning to blink in the houses he passed and there was a pungent smell of burning wood. In front, the forest rolled upwards in a blurred, dark mass, but he could not see the mountains. The air was still and felt damp upon his skin, and he knew a sudden rise of temperature accounted for the obscurity. The main thing, however, was that there was nobody to watch him, and he set off along the road he had taken on the previous night.

He had some trouble to keep the trail when he plunged in among the trees, but day had broken when he reached the clearing and a faint grey light shone through the haze. There was no obvious reason why the stranger's disappearance at the spot should interest him, but his suspicions were quickly excited and it looked as if the fellow had tried to make his acquaintance in order to learn his business in town. He had come early, hoping to find footprints that might give him a hint, but was disappointed. There were a number of marks, but they had lost their sharpness and he could not tell which had been made recently.

In the meantime, the light was growing and he saw that the shack at the foot of the rocks had partly fallen down. Thick wooden beams and props lay beside the ironwork he had noticed on his last visit. It was obvious that he was looking at a mineral claim that had been abandoned after some development work had been done, while the trampled snow indicated that somebody had been removing material not long since. Passing the heap of rusty iron, from which the snow was beginning to shrink, he found a narrow opening in the foot of the hill. This was a test addit, and the tilt of the strata indicated that its slope was steep. The stone that had been taken out showed that it did not penetrate far, and Foster saw no reason for entering.

He next studied the rocks, and although he saw no path, imagined that one could get up that way, but could not see why anybody should wish to do so, and the snow did not seem to have been disturbed. After a minute or two he turned back into the wood with a gesture of disappointment.

The man he had followed had apparently come there to meet somebody, but although the mine was conveniently near this town it was a cold and cheerless spot for a rendezvous. Foster surprised from this that secrecy was important, but after all there was nothing to indicate that it matter had anything to do with him. As he went back he heard a musical humming in the tops of the pines and a lump of wet snow, slipping from a branch, struck his face. The humming grew louder until the wood was filled with sound, and he began to feel clammy and hot. A warm Chinook wind from the Pacific was sweeping up the valley, driving back the frost.

When he reached the town the snow was wet and the lights were out, but the post office was open, and having telegraphed his new address, he went in to ask if there was any mail for him. A girl was busy behind a lettered brass wicket, but did not look up, and Foster saw the man in whom he was interested, standing among some others farther along the counter. The fellow came towards him.

"Been for a walk," he said. "You get up early."

"I am used to that," Foster answered with a careless smile. "Anyhow, I want my mail and you enjoy breakfast better if you've been out first."

"Sure thing," agreed the other. "But you want to put on rubber shoes when a Chinook wind strikes this town."

Then the girl clerk looked up and when Foster inquired for letters threw him two. His companion asked for his, giving the name of Telford, and she indicated the lettering on the wicket.

"Farther along, where you came from! Can't you read the alphabet?"

"I can, now I see it," said the other good humoredly as he turned back.

On the whole, Foster was glad he had picked up the letters as the girl threw them down. It is customary in western cities for people to call for their mail and girl clerks are sometimes curt, but she seemed to think it strange that the fellow had come to the wrong wicket. If he had an object for doing so, he had learned Foster's name, but the latter did not think he had seen the postmarks or that one letter had an English stamp. Still, he had noted that Foster's boots were wet, which indicated that the latter had gone farther than the post office.

He went out before he opened the envelopes and glancing at the letters put them in his pocket with a thrill of satisfaction, meaning to read them carefully after breakfast. Entering the hotel, he hung up his coat and went to the dining room. He was promptly served, and when he went out after finishing his meal, saw Telford, who had apparently just returned from the post office, standing in the passage, which was rather dark. It looked as if he had been hanging up his coat, but he stood near Foster's, and then moved on abruptly as another man came up.

Foster met them and saw that the last man whom he had half suspected of watching Telford on the previous evening. As he passed, he took the letters from his coat, and entering the rotunda sat down and lighted his pipe. It was possible that Telford had meant to search his pockets, but had been prevented by the appearance of the other man, and Foster frowned. He was feeling the strain of the constant watchfulness and getting tired of intrigue. As a matter of fact, he hated that kind of thing, and it would be a keen relief when he could attend to his proper business and finish with the need for caution. In the meantime, he did not know if he had found a fresh clue or not. After all, he had not much ground for suspecting Telford.

Then Foster forgot his perplexities as he took out the letters. The first was from Lucy Stephen, who said that the doctor had visited Lawrence and was satisfied with his progress. She added that Foster knew Lawrence disliked writing letters, but she wanted to reassure him and wish him good luck. The note was short, but seemed to put Foster on a footing of intimate friendship that he was grateful for, and he thought Lucy had written with this object.

HAD WEAK and FAINTING SPELLS

Those feelings of faintness, those weak, "all gone" sinking sensations, which come over some people from time to time, are warnings that must not go unheeded.

They mean an extremely weakened condition of the heart and a disordered nervous system.

When the system is in this condition there is no time for delay. One fainting spell may be recovered from—will the next? One dizzy spell may pass off, but the next may be more serious.

Those who are wise will start taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, before their case becomes deep rooted and perhaps hopeless.

They will act directly on the disordered heart and weakened nervous system and restore them to full strength and vigor.

Miss Mary McCoy, Algoma Mills, Ont., writes:—"I was awfully troubled with fainting and weak spells, and I could never get any doctor's medicines to help me. One day a friend of mine was at the house when I took one of those spells, and she got me a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. That was six years ago, and from that day to this I have never had any of those spells. I would not be without your pills for any money, and can highly recommend them to any one."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers, or mail direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The Woman Who Suffers.

Who does not know women and young girls who are continually in tears? Who always see the dark side? Who have frequent fits of melancholy without any apparent cause? The intelligent physician will know that it is some derangement of the complicated and delicate feminine organs. The young girl suffers bodily and mentally in silence. There is undue weariness, unexpected pain, unreasonable tears and fits of temper.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription exerts a wonderful power over woman's delicate organism. It is an invigorating tonic and is prescribed for the peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and painful derangements of woman.

Careless, easy-going doctors frequently treat their women patients for biliousness, nervousness, dyspepsia, liver or kidney troubles, when the real sickness is in the organs distinctly feminine, and no help can come till they are made perfectly strong by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, in tablet or liquid form.

Toronto, Ont.—"Dr. Pierce's medicine has been a wonderful help to me and I recommend it in hope that others may be benefited by its use. When I was a girl I was always delicate. My mother thought she could never raise me. As I got older I grew worse; doctors said I would have to have an operation. I suffered at times untold agony. My mother started giving me 'Favorite Prescription', and it finally cured me of all my trouble. After I married I used it again. My children are all healthy and strong. This medicine did wonders for me, saved me much suffering, and I can highly recommend it to weak women or those raising a family."—Mrs. A. W. Robb, 118 Tecumseh St.

Many Opponents to League of Nations

Washington. — President Wilson told members of the congressional foreign relations committee that unless the United States entered the league of nations, the league would fall and chaos and turmoil beyond description would result in Europe. Views of Republican members opposing the league's constitution, as reported to the peace conference, apparently were not changed by the conference.

The president was said to have stated that it was necessary that the United States stand to the support of the Czech-Slovaks, the Jugos-Slavs, Poland and other weak and struggling peoples made free as a result of the great war.

Discussion of the constitution as presented to the peace conference was said to have been quite general, and the president was questioned closely, especially by Senator Brandegee, of Connecticut, Republican Leader Lodge and Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, former secretary of state, took very little part.

The president was said to have told the senators and representatives that the league constitution adopted was proposed by Great Britain, but was not the one drawn by General Smuts, one of the British authorities on the league proposal. Drafts presented by the United States, France and Italy were rejected.

One senator pressed enquiries relating to the Irish question, and the president was said to have answered that Ireland would have no vote in the league of nations at present and the Irish question was one for later solution between Ireland and England.

Princess Pat's Regiment To Be Perpetuated

Reorganization on Peace Basis With Force of Five Thousand of All Ranks

Montreal. — Orders have been received here from headquarters at Ottawa providing for the reorganization of the Canadian permanent force on a peace basis, with a force of five thousand of all ranks.

The Princess Patricia's will be perpetuated as a regiment with four companies, headquarters being at Toronto, while it is likely that the various companies of the regiment will be stationed at different points throughout the country.

Orders from Ottawa headquarters regarding the Canadian permanent force set forth that it will be a volunteer force. The term of enlistment will be two years, with provision for renewal, while it has been provided that the rate of pay and subsistence allowance shall be the same as that for the Canadian expeditionary force which will be a considerable advance on the rates of pay and allowance of the pre-war period.

Strong Enough to do Homestead Duty

SIDNEY BENT GIVES THE CREDIT TO DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Six Years Ago He Had Kidney Disease So Bad His Friends Said He Would Not Live Long.

Lydiard, Sask., March 3. — Strong and healthy, and able to do the heavy work of homestead duty, Mr. Sidney Bent, a well-known settler here, is telling his friends of the great benefits he received from using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"Six years ago I suffered a lot from my back and kidneys," Mr. Bent says. "I tried a lot of medicine and drugs, but kept getting worse, till some of my friends said I would not live long."

"Four years ago I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. After taking the first box I felt so much better I decided to continue the treatment."

"The result is I have been able to do homestead duty for the last three winters."

"I would advise anyone suffering from kidney trouble to take Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Dodd's Kidney Pills have made their reputation by curing kidney diseases and the ills that spring from diseased kidneys. They are no cure-all. But if you are suffering from rheumatism, lumbago, sore back, diabetes or some other form of kidney trouble, ask your neighbors what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for them.

Disposal of Enemy Ships

London. — The question of the destruction of the surrendered German warships is a matter for the peace conference to decide, according to an announcement made in the house of lords by the Earl of Lytton, civil lord and parliamentary secretary to the admiralty.

Criticize Plan to Destroy Foe Ships

London. — The Daily Chronicle reports in a Paris dispatch that the suggestion that the German fleet be sunk in the Atlantic has excited a storm of criticism in the French papers. The French think that their government has a particular right to a number of these vessels by way of compensation for their naval losses.

Major David Davies, chairman of the league of nations union, according to the Chronicle's dispatch, suggests that the German fleet should be handed over to the league of nations as the nucleus of an international police force which could be relied upon to enforce the decisions of the league. Doubtless, says Major Davies, such an international naval force would have to be built up step by step. It is unnecessary the whole fleet should be commissioned at the same time. Thus a long period would elapse before it could possibly rival existing national fleets but as confidence in the league of nations develops and as the financial strain of competing armaments became more actually felt the tendency would be to transfer sea power more and more to the international fleet.

Regarding the question of a base for this international force, Major Davies says that the future status of Constantinople would soon become an important question at the peace conference. Was it not possible that the straits and the Bosphorus could be internationalized and that Constantinople should become one of the first bases of the international police force?

Major Davies adds that proposals were recently made to abolish the submarine as a weapon of naval warfare. If the league of nations had a sufficient number of submarines at its disposal and maintained a monopoly in development of this weapon that was the only sure and effective means of securing its abandonment by individual nations. The disposal of the German navy offers opportunity of making the league of nations a reality and endowing it partially with the means of exercising its authority and maintaining processes of law against aggression and violence.

Guards Return to London

General Fielding Welcomed Battalion On Behalf of King

London. — The second battalion of the Grenadier Guards received an enthusiastic welcome on its return to London from Germany. Although no ceremonies had been arranged and the hour of arrival was uncertain, immense crowds assembled at St. Pancras station, which was thronged, large numbers being congregated outside.

The only indication that something unusual was happening was the presence of massed bands which played "See, the Conquering Hero Comes," as the men left their train. General Fielding, commandant of the London district, welcomed the battalion on behalf of the King and then the guards began a triumphant march across London to Chelsea barracks.

Some Prisoners Not Reported

London. — Replying to a question in the house of commons, Captain Guest said that the number of officers and other ranks officially accepted as war prisoners who had not yet been accounted for by the Germans approximated 3,000, including the imperial and colonial troops and the navy, but excluded the Indians. It was not expected that many were alive.

As a result of recent search in Germany sixteen sick and wounded prisoners were reported, but left there because it was not advisable to move them. Three medical orderlies were left to attend them while their quarters were comfortable and in charge of the Anglo-French medical authorities, American Y.M.C.A. and the Danish Red Cross.

There was also a small number of men desirous of remaining in Germany for various reasons.

It's a good plan to grease or paint the bright parts of all farm machinery as soon as one is through using it.

Submarines for Canada

Two Submarines Given to Dominion and Six to Australia

London. — Replying to Lieut.-Col. Burgoine, Right Hon. Walter Long, first lord of the admiralty, stated in the house of commons that the imperial government had offered the Australian government six modern destroyers and six modern submarines. Two submarines had been presented to Canada. Requests made by other dominions, said Mr. Long, would receive the most sympathetic consideration. Mr. Long emphasized the fact that the Australian navy was in an advanced stage of development.

Col. Burgoine asked if the two submarines given to Canada were the same two which had been taken from her, or were they additional?

Mr. Long replied: "I really cannot say."

DON'T SCOLD, MOTHER! THE CROSS CHILD IS BILIOUS, FEVERISH

Look at tongue! If coated, clean little stomach, liver, bowels

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child, tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

In producing a ship many more trades are used than one is aware of. In one of the latest ships that was turned out of Canada's large ship-building yards thirty-two trades were represented.

Proof that Some Women do Avoid Operations

Mrs. Etta Dorion, of Ogdensburg, Wis., says:

"I suffered from female troubles which caused piercing pains like a knife through my back and side. I finally lost all my strength so I had to go to bed. The doctor advised an operation but I would not listen to it. I thought of what I had read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it. The first bottle brought great relief and six bottles have entirely cured me. All women who have female trouble of any kind should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

How Mrs. Boyd Avoided an Operation.

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 6th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

To Solve Canada's Employment Problem

EVERYONE in Canada should understand just what the Government is doing to solve the unemployment problems that may arise through the demobilization of our fighting forces.

(1) Employment Offices.

So that everyone—male or female, soldier or civilian—can get quickly such jobs as are available the Government is co-operating with the Provinces in establishing a chain of Public Employment Offices. Employers are being urged to make use of these offices to secure any help they need. Farmers, for example, who need hired men should apply to the nearest office. There will be a Public Employment Office in every town of 10,000 people—and wherever the need for one exists. There will be 60 different offices in all—one-half are already in operation.

(2) Employment Opportunities.

The war held up much work that will now be carried on at once. Public works, shipbuilding, roadbuilding, railway work—construction of bridges, improvement of road-bed, making of new equipment—these will provide new opportunities for employment. In addition, the Government has sent a Trade Mission overseas to secure for Canada a share in the business of providing materials and products required for reconstruction work in Europe. It has also set aside the large sum of $25,000,000 to be loaned through the Provinces to encourage the building of workmen's houses. This will mean much new work in the spring.

(3) Land and Loans for Soldiers

To help soldiers become farmers the Government has developed a programme that includes the providing of land, the granting of loans, and the training and supervision of those inexperienced in farming. At present, the soldier is granted, free, in addition to his ordinary homestead right, one quarter-section of Dominion lands. He also receives a loan up to the maximum of $2,500.

These original plans are now being broadened. If Parliament passes the new proposals during this session, the Soldier Settlement Board will be able to buy suitable land and re-sell it to the soldier at cost.

Land up to the value of $5,000 may be bought by this plan—the money to be repaid in 20 years. The low interest rate of 5 per cent, will be charged. These new proposals will also permit the Soldier Settlement Board to loan the soldier-farmer up to $2,500 for purchasing equipment, etc., in addition to $5,000 loan on his farm.

Rosebud News

Mrs. C. C. Williams arrived from California, on Saturday, and is on her way to Edmonton but is visiting at the Mr. Burgess home for a few days.

L. C. Alt has purchased the Fred Diebel farm and expects to move soon after the sale.

The Rosebud Literary has been postponed until a week from Friday night on account of the "Rag time Social" on Friday night at the Gore School-house.

The Young people of this vicinity that were attending the Agricultural College at Olds "must have been taking a few dancing lessons as well as agriculture lessons," as they finished up with a big dance, and didn't get in until 5 o'clock in the morning.

The Rosebud School was closed a few days last week on account of the weather being so bad.

Reta Weigand is spending a few days with Lucy Wilson.

A successful program and box social was held by the Rosebud Literary Society on Tuesday, February 18th. The proceeds were $52.75.

Great Britain's War Savings Campaign

War Saving Certificates were first placed on sale in Great Britain on February 22, 1916. Between that date and January 18, 1919 inclusive, 287,030,200 Certificates were sold. These represented $1,435,151,000. Of this amount the redemptions amount to probably a little over 4 per cent.

The sales by years are as follows:—
1916 Certificates sold, 854,394,053
1917 " " 82,935,268
1918 " " 140,761,865

As the financial year does not end until March 31, it is quite probable that the sales during the present fiscal year will exceed those of last by over 40 per cent. That the sale of Certificates is continuing strong may be seen in the fact that for the week ending January 11, 1919, sales brought in $11,500,000; while for that ending January 18 they were about $17,000,000.

It should be borne in mind that while these millions of War Saving Certificates were being sold, the sale of National War Bonds reached the huge total of $8,226,688,670. The sale of these bonds began on October 1, 1917, and ended on January 18, 1919, which means that during the 68 weeks of the issue the average weekly sales amounted to $120,000,000.

At first the sale of War Savings Certificates was attended with disappointing results, possibly because it was hedged about by cumbersome restrictions. It was not until these were removed in June of 1916 that appreciable results were secured. Even though the War feeling has subsided the sale of Certificates continues to be very brisk, 3,428,191 having been sold during the week ending January 18, which average, if maintained, would double the sales for 1917.

Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

TELLS SAFE AND SIMPLE WAY TO TREAT AND RELIEVE AT HOME

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Paracetamol (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.

Elect Fair Officers

Regina, Sask. — The Coca-Cola Company will erect a factory on Cornwall street, Regina, early this spring and erect a plant, which is to cost, when completed, $100,000. The property site for the factory was purchased two years ago and plans for the factory were submitted to the company about a year ago. This comes from a decision by the company to build a chain of factories from coast to coast in Canada.

A Simple and Cheap Medicine.—A simple, cheap and effective medicine is something to be desired. There is no medicine so effective a regulator of the digestive system as Paracetamol's Vegetable Pills. They are simple, they are cheap, they can be got anywhere, and their beneficial action will prove their recommendation. They are the medicine of the poor man and those who wish to escape doctors' bills will do well in giving them a trial.

British Columbia May Be Divided

With the Cascade Mountains as a Dividing Line

Revelstoke. — With a full list of delegates present the associated boards of trade of eastern British Columbia unanimously passed a resolution asking for the separation of British Columbia into two provinces, with the Cascade mountains as a dividing line, declaring that proper recognition of the interest of the eastern part of the province cannot be obtained from the coast.

A further resolution was passed advocating that if Doukhobors are found to be violating Dominion enactments, that they be dealt with as undesirable citizens and that all machinery not obtainable from Canadian manufacturers be admitted duty free.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food comes, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bismarck Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Beekeeping Industry Steadily Progressing

Making Manitoba One of the Honey Provinces

Beekeeping has made great strides in Manitoba since the inception of the Manitoba beekeepers' association. The interest has grown year by year until now there are 921 beekeepers in the province.

The number of hives has risen until it is now 14,736 and from all reports received by the association this number will soon be doubled. This rise in the number of beekeepers is making Manitoba one of the honey provinces, the crop for 1918 being 944,104 pounds—of the finest quality honey in the Dominion.

In 1918 there were 180 beginners who entered the business and this year that number will be greatly increased as the production of this product has proved financially a great success.

WOMAN'S RIGHT TO GOOD HEALTH

Most Troubles Afflicting Women Are Due to Weak, Watery Blood

To every woman belongs the right to enjoy a healthy, active, happy life, yet nine out of every ten suffer years of agony, usually from some form of bloodlessness. That is why one sees on every side pale, thin cheeks, dull eyes and drooping figures—sure signs of headaches, weak backs, aching limbs and uncertain health. All weak, suffering women should win the right to be well by refreshing their weary bodies with the new, rich, red blood that promptly transforms them into healthy attractive women. This new, rich, red blood is supplied in abundance by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which reaches every organ and every nerve in the body. Through the use of these pills thousands of women have found a prompt cure when suffering from anaemia, indigestion, heart palpitation, rheumatism, general weakness, and those ailments from which women alone suffer. There is no part of this broad Dominion in which you will not find some former sufferer who has regained health and strength through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Among the thousands of women who bear testimony to the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. W. Ferguson, Plattsville, Ont., who says: "After the birth of my second baby I was left very weak, and was steadily growing thinner and more bloodless. As time went on I became so run down that my friends thought I was in a decline. I tried different medicines, but none helped me until I was advised to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I began taking them and was not long in finding that they were helping me, and by the time I had taken a half a dozen boxes I felt like a new person. I had increased in weight, my color returned and I was again enjoying my old-time health. You may be sure when opportunity offers I will gladly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Expense Would Be Heavy

Winnipeg, Man. — It is estimated that it will cost approximately $800,000 to reclaim lands on the Carrot river near the Pas. The land is situated in a triangle formed by the Sipanock channel, Saskatchewan and Carrot rivers. The area is approximately 1,136 miles, or about 727,000 acres. Approximately half or little less than one-half of this area may be drained by gravity during the whole season, while the balance must be pumped during a portion of June, July, August and September.

Miller's Worm Powders can do no injury to the most delicate child. Any child, infant or in the state of adolescence, who is infested with worms can take this preparation without a qualm of the stomach, and will find in it a sure relief and a full protection from these destructive pests, which are responsible for much sickness and great suffering to legions of little ones.

Up to date $4,373,581 has been expended on the new parliament buildings at Winnipeg, and an additional $1,534,769 is needed to complete the work.

Need Ships for Lumber

Vancouver, B. C. — Cabled advices from London reaching Vancouver, indicate that shortage of ships is standing in the way of the placing of large timber orders by the British authorities in this province. It similarly affects the salvaging of the immense quantities of high class spruce logs lying in the water or in the woods of the northern coast. Strenuous efforts are being made to overcome this difficulty, says the cable, and the department of lands has requested the earnest support of the department of marine at Ottawa that every effort be made to provide Canadian vessels.

Immigration in January
Immigrations returns for the month of January show that Western Canada welcomed 828 new settlers during that period.

The value of personal effects for this month were $69,000 as against $65,256 last year. Actual cash brought into the country amounted to $622,220. Last year the sum only totalled $148,000 for the same time. Seventeen motors were shipped in by these settlers in comparison with 35 cars for January, 1918.

Must Report on Material

London. — A Berlin government wireless states:

The allied supreme council has requested a statement regarding the stocks of war material now available in Germany, or under construction, especially machine and other guns, aeroplane motors, and seaplanes. The demand is based on the German chief army administration's attitude concerning the Polish question and the necessity for settling the conditions for extending the armistice.

By Keeping the Liver Right

The Health of the Vital Organs Is Maintained and Serious Disease Is Avoided

Brandon, Man., March 11.—The secret of health in the home is found in keeping the liver, kidneys and bowels in healthful working order. The liver is usually first to get out of order, and there come headache, indigestion, dizzy spells and biliousness to make life miserable.

Mrs. Cook tells how they have learned to avoid such derangements by the timely use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. As she says in her letter, they could scarcely keep house without them.

Mrs. G. L. Cook, 248 10th street, Brandon, Man., writes: "I have been using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the last four years for liver trouble, and can say I have had great satisfaction and help from using them. I find I don't need any doctor if I use them. I just think they are the thing for me, and my husband uses them for his kidneys and thinks them a great help. He also uses Dr. Chase's Ointment and finds no equal to it for piles. I just sent last week and got four boxes of Pills and one box of Ointment. My daughter in Winnipeg has used the Pills and found they helped her a great deal. We say we can't keep house without them and that I have cheated the doctors here out of a good many visits they had here before I began using your Pills, and I can truthfully say I think Dr. Chase's Medicines are just the thing."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmundson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Insist on seeing the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., on the box you buy. This is your protection against imitations.

Make Your Barn Earn Money Instead of Wasting It

The day of making money on the average farm with any old kind of buildings is nearly gone.

Land, machinery and stock are too high priced with labor both scarce and high.

Buildings, barns especially, must be designed and built to save labor, protect stock and reduce costs.

This year such barns are more necessary than ever, because the world needs the greatest production that our farms can force.

Such barns are being planned on a number of farms now. If you need a new barn on your farm, let us help you plan it now. WE MAKE PLANS FREE.

Don't wait until time to begin building.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency), on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.
